

Malvern House in collaboration with UCL

ENGLISH FOR MEDICINE

Designed in collaboration with University College London (UCL) this intensive English for Medicine programme offers high quality English language tuition combined with university style lectures - delivered by UCL academic staff - and visits to working hospital sites.

Attendees will be introduced to the research done at the Institute of Ophthalmology in to the basic biology of the eye and novel therapies to restore vision. This will include demonstrations of cutting-edge imaging techniques.

This well-rounded programme gives students a chance to improve their level of English, learn key technical terms and develop a biological understanding beyond the horizon of a textbook.
